a little something for everyone

Cindy,
I'm so glad "faith" put us in the same class.

actually the first time we really talked was when we went to breakfast (Comillo's) together. Oh my God, you looked so good at the Prom. your date looked really ~~good~~ gorgeous.

I would really like one of your prom pictures. I hope you have a good time in _____ college. Love Astrid.

Cindy Wasn't prom so fun?!!? I have to say I'm really surprised at how fast we hit it off. You're really a sweet person (I guess I am too, eh?) Making fun of Mrs. Agather was fun. I'll never forget Dominick & Eugene. It was really fun. There was nothing to be worried about; Mark got along well with everybody. Rose even said that both of you were super nice. I hope this isn't a good-bye (I hate goodbyes), but just an "I'll see you later" because I think there's something special here. Love ya, Jason

Hi, Sweet Cindy!

I hope your last year was as fun as it was supposed to be!
I sure want to be!
Smiles - that's what you're made of!

Cindy,
I'm glad I got to meet you in swing class this year - and we don't even go to the same school! Good luck next year at the
I may be if I transfer there I'll see you again. Your prom
pics are really good. Keep swing

Hey Cindy,
Too bad that I didn't get to know you better but the little I know
I like you

Cindy-

At the beginning of the semester, I thought you were really cool, because you were a senior, but you ended up to be no big deal. I mean that you are just like everyone else. This doesn't sound good but it really is well intended. Don't take it wrong, but I think who wrote it. I hope you have fun in the "real world." I hope you stay away from it (the real world) for as long as possible, and have fun forever.

"...Here you are. Please have a seat and your waiter will be with you shortly. In the meantime, here is your menu ... careful ... yes, we realize that 256 pages is rather large ... yes ... but we feel that by providing our guests with a wide variety of foods and beverages we are able to accomodate even the most finicky eater ... I'm so glad you understand ... no, your wrist doesn't look sprained, however, if it begins to swell let me know and I will bring you some ice from the kitchen ... There are so many exotic dishes here from which to choose: Beverages like cross-country and diving, Side Orders of shogi and jazz, Main Dishes that range from earthy to fresh, and Dessert with clothes and dance clubs. What you choose depends on your appetite - the widest variety of clubs, sports and academics in the school's history ... Are you feeling better now? ... excellent! It doesn't look as if you'll be needing that ice afterall ... oh ... you're welcome ... yes, your waiter should be here any moment now, enjoy the menu ... I think you'll find that we really do have a little something for everyone."

Cold, dark, sluggish. The kind of day that killed the dinosaurs. It almost killed two photographers. Annual Staff was working hard on a deadline. Exhausted staffers lay strewn across tables and chairs, worn out, tired, old. "Phil, what are you up to?" Suddenly, Lucy "the killer" Nguyen cracked her whip, Beth "the terminator" Barrett gnashed her teeth, Morina "the butcher" Harder brandished a ruler, "Hegarty, keep typing!" Team Horizon resumed its work - slowly, impressively - polishing off 30 more pages with a snap of the fingers, a toss of the head, and a smile.

Fun

is what tau is all about

A person who goes to Shorewood is called a Thunderbird. Some of the Thunderbirds here devote their extra time and effort to organize special events and activities. This is where TAU originated. Fifteen students, along with Tom Davis Activities Coordinator worked their tails off making Homecoming the most extravagant fall celebration in the school's history. The secret to TAU's success was keeping an open mind and learning to accept outside opinions whether good or bad. The members each contributed their own creativity and skills to bring together this unique organization.

Wild

*freshmen on the loose and

This was our second year of making available to the freshmen a variety of "enriching experiences." Together, the staff and students gave their time and energy to create an atmosphere of challenge, tolerance and change. Some freshmen felt that without TAG they would have become social outcasts. All in all, TAG was a place where new students could go to be nurtured in an environment that invites risk, growth and maturity.

■ "Having a big brother or sister in TAG is like having a blood-relative." -Kaye Morrow, TAG co-ordinator

"I need help!! But I don't know who I can talk to. My life is controlled by drugs and I don't know how much longer I can take it. My grades are suffering and I'm losing my friends." WTI was a support group that helped students cope with drugs and alcohol and showed them you really can get a natural high out of life.

■ "I learned that life is what you make of it and it is okay to be yourself." -Amy Ward

■ "The highpoint of my involvement was seeing someone realize that their life was worth living without drugs and alcohol; it was a powerful experience." - Denise Dougal

Honor Society members not only have to obtain a Grade Point Average of over 3.5, but they also have to dedicate themselves and strive to be the best they can. With the help of their advisor, Randy Schnabel, the members raised money for the A.S.B. and tutored fellow students.

■ "I joined Honor Society because it represents something I believe in." -Melinda Hoffman

■ "The high point of my involvement was when we gave to the needy; I really enjoyed that." -Ya-Chuan Yang

It is true that they have spent time studying the fine art of rhetoric: independent events such as oratory, cross examination debate and Lincoln/Douglas or mano e mano debating. However, our debaters did much more than argue. Each student in the program had the opportunity to "kick-off" discussions on hot topics of our times like the morality of abortions and the beastiality of Ollie North.

■ "If the debate team had guns we would always win." -Jason Brown

■ "Debate means fierce competition. It is every bit as challenging as any sport." -Kirk Noreen

■ "The debate team was one BIG party. Can you believe that the school gave us hotel rooms, out of town, without our parents? Loren couldn't believe it either." -Joshua Russert

Vocal

*jazz? what's that?
you may have never heard of them
but they're out there*

Sixteen extremely talented vocalists under the supervision of Mike Benson. For these people, the weekday starts at 6:30 in the band room, where they not only express complaints on the lack of sleep, but where they also improve on their talents and work toward the next big performance. Dedication is the word here.

■ "Sometimes we have a hard time staying in tune so early in the morning, but we have a good group that works well together." -Amy Holmes

■ "Our positive attitude and director Mr. Benson help us with most of our problems. Also, there is not much of a gap between classes as there was in previous years." -Jennifer Kang

The word "group" is the most descriptive word for Treble Choir. Directed by Mike Benson, they met during second period to work together, learn, and expand on the one thing they all have in common: music.

■ "Treble Choir is okay. Sometimes we get bored, but it's a pretty fun class. The songs are okay too." -Marcie Pearce

■ "I think Mr. Benson is a great teacher. He really gives us a chance to feel the music in our hearts. And as a group we all participate and know what to do." -Lieolani Vinuya

■ "Mr. Benson has improved all of our singing techniques so much. We are so thankful." -Kelly Loken

cellos and percussion

where can you find all of these and more?

Why in Frank Nielsen's first period orchestra class, of course. Did you ever wonder if one's arm ached when one has been playing a violin for fifty minutes? Or how much practice and dedication goes into preparing for a concert?

■ "I like it, that's why I took it. I've had Mr. Nielsen since fifth grade - he loses his temper very easily though, and tells lots of stories." -Angela Fernandez

■ "It's something you have to experience to understand. All the practicing pays off in the trips. This year - Disneyland! The only major drawback is the polyester gowns we have to wear." -Jennifer Reardon

This 54 member group met during first period to faithfully prepare for their concerts. To be involved in this group, each person had to try out which makes being a member a privilege. A few musicians take lessons weekly to improve the band even more. Their first performance of the year was held in the gym because the lecture hall was in the process of remodeling. This proved that they were terrific anywhere they played.

Great

It's a common misconception. And an unfair, unfounded, and well, just ungroovy one too. Our cheerleaders work as hard, if not harder, than any other organization in this school. They make spirit bags, perform difficult routines, make little signs to put on people's lockers, and on top of that, they also cheer. But we, as students, have this really annoying tendency to look down on them, insult them, and say things like, "I bet they paint their toenails green and blue." Yet they keep on cheering and supporting us, even when we don't support them. Why?

The boy's soccer team started up the season with some bad news. Many players were injured within the first two weeks of practice, some with broken legs, others with damaged ankles or fractured elbows. This temporary loss of a few key players put a damper on team spirits. But, with the confidence of captains Dave Bergman and Matt Brunson and the support of coach Kelly, the team survived and succeeded.

These athletes must remain within their weight group, consequently, their pre-meet agenda includes rigorous workouts, fasting and spitting into cups. Under the direction of coach Fisher and team captain Eric Coronel they ended the season with ten wins, ten losses.

by Michelle Soots

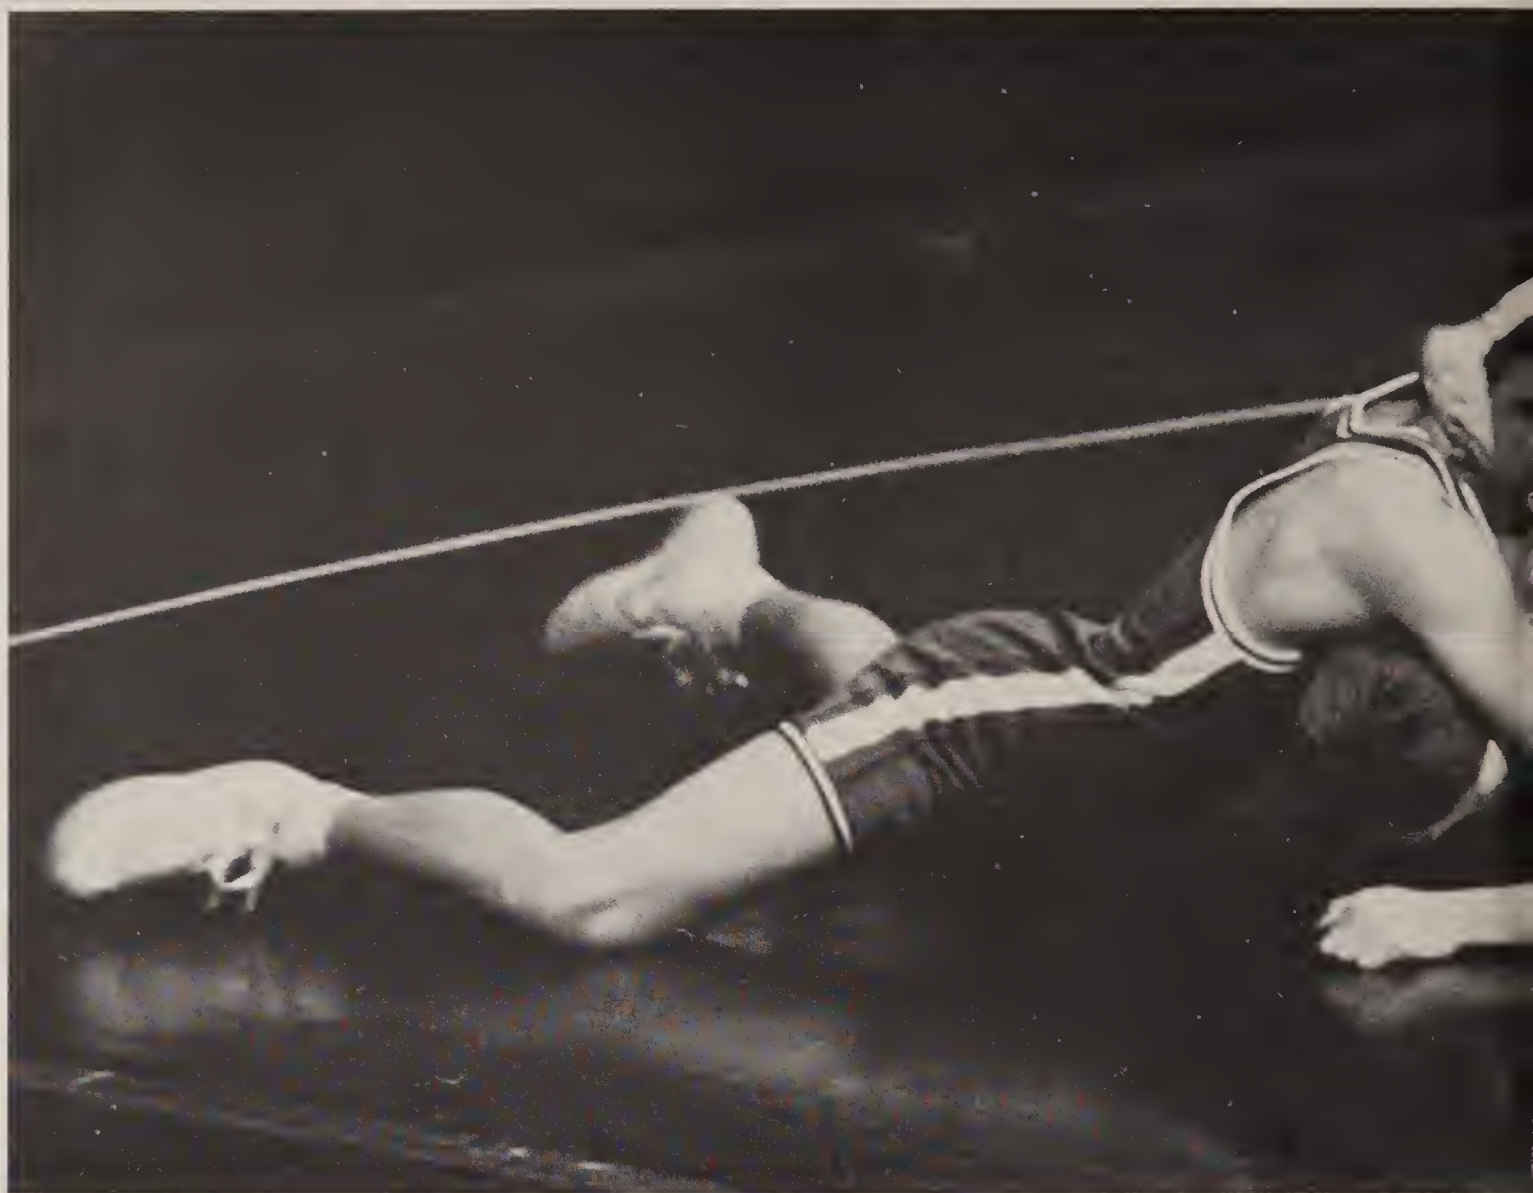

■ "It was extremely hard to remain in my weight group. I was 'cutting' about 129 lbs. and had some really tough guys in my weight group. All three wrestlers in WesCo that beat me have undefeated records." -Andy Pym

■ "My highlight of the season was at the Cascade Takedown Tournament where I went undefeated." -Ted Milasich

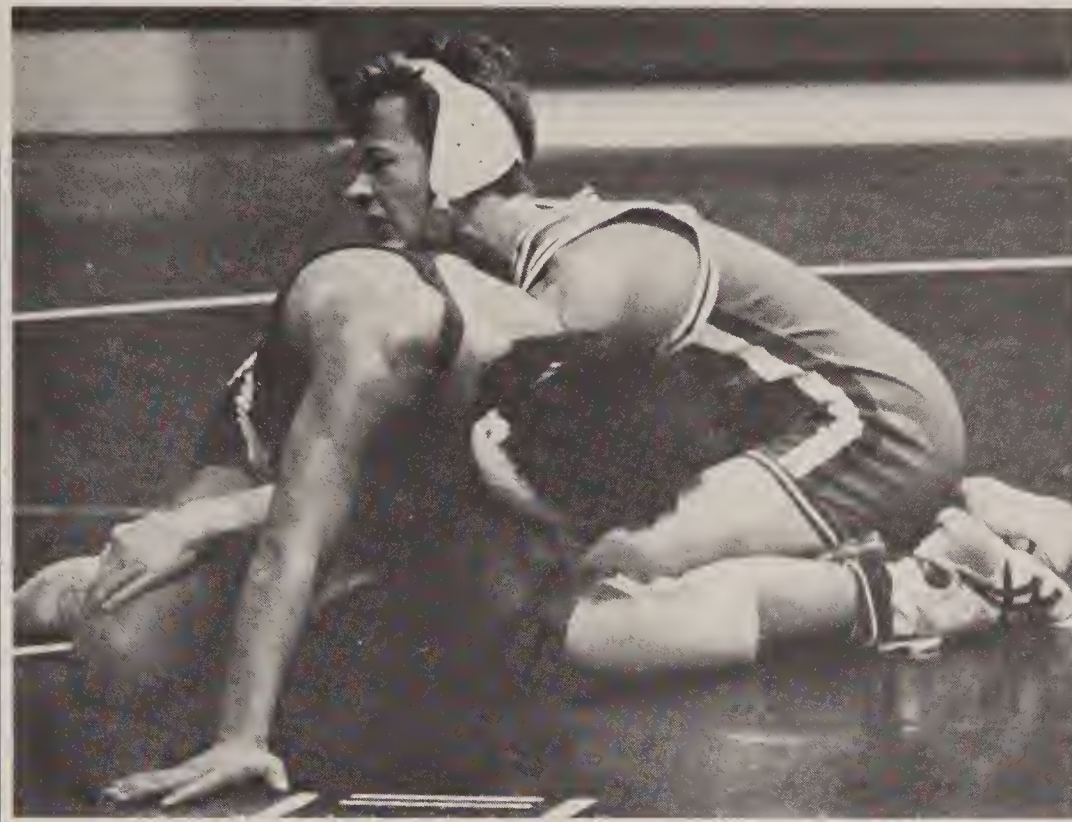

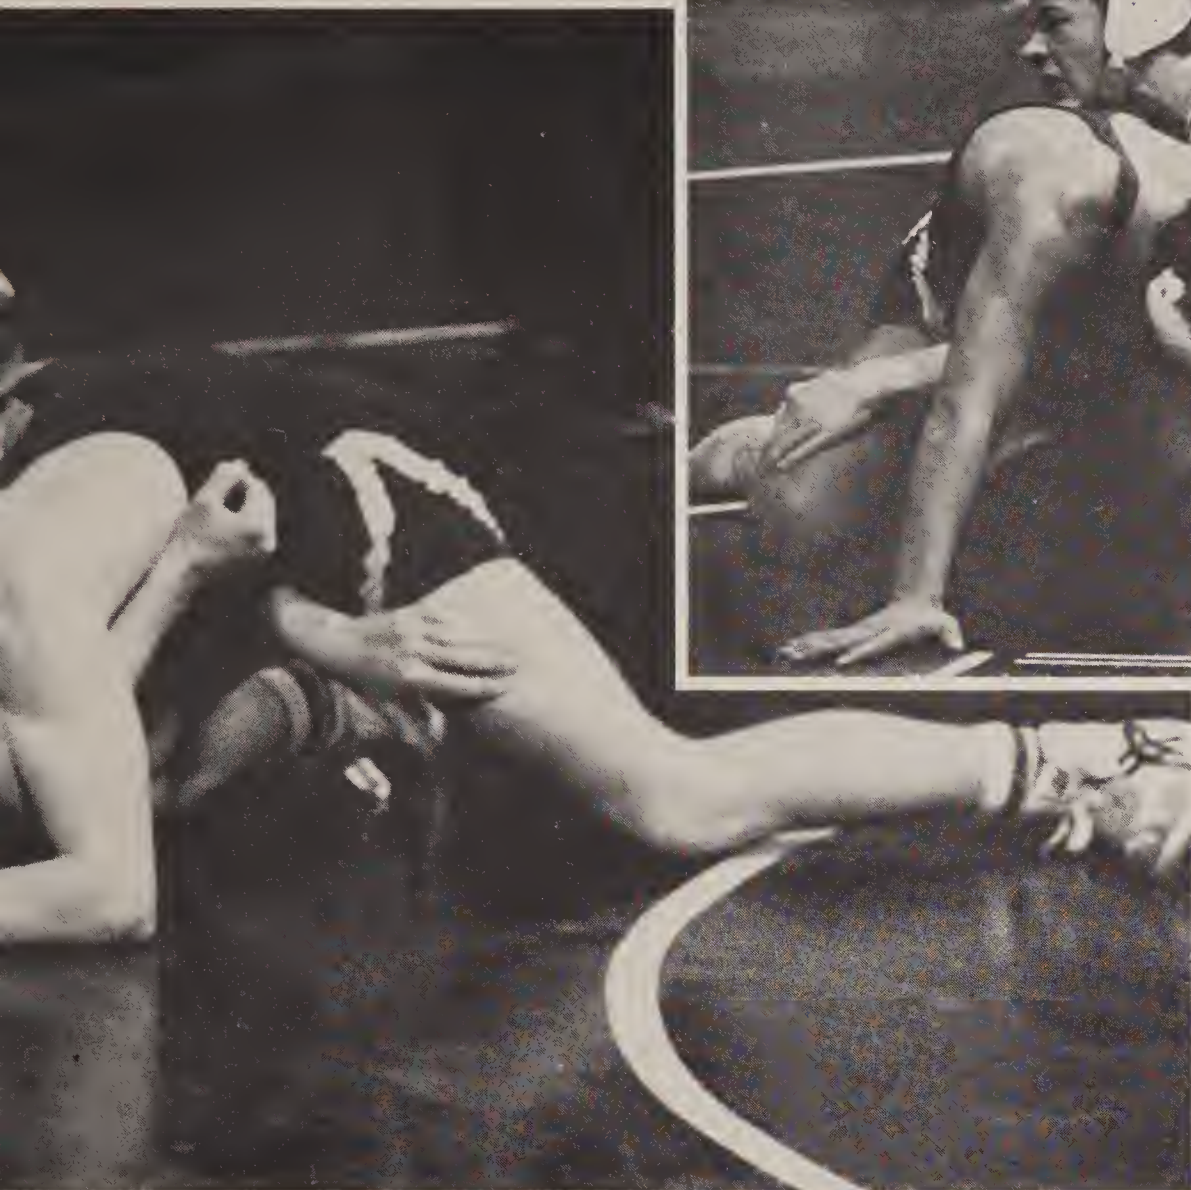

"It is important for wrestlers to pick a weight close to their own. That's what I did and I had no trouble staying under-weight." -Aaron Moe

You've seen them in their blue and green spandex. With a record of 6-3, many members comment that the team was a great asset to the school's spirit. Although, as these girls found out, it takes more than spirit to conquer the team at Bainbridge, which they did. And their hard work and determination, along with tons of energy brought them to a second place title at WESCO.

by Briedi Treece

■ "Beating Bainbridge was the best part, and placing second at WESCO. But I have to admit, one of the funniest times had to be watching the video of all our mess ups at the end of the season." - Erica King

■ "We goofed around a lot ... the paint fights were fun too. We didn't really pull together as a team until almost the end, but when we did, it worked out great!" - J.J. Crow

■ "We were very hard-working and did well because of it. Many girls are going to be working out during the off season, so we should have a great team in '89." - Steffany Glade

For the first time ever, bowlers are able to receive letters. Now officially recognized as an athletic team, they compete in the North Seattle High School Varsity League. The girls finished in 3rd place with a record of 25 and 11. The boys had a 19 and 17 record and came in 4th place. Under the coaching of Mr. Gorud the team definitely shows future potential.

to play boys basketball

It hasn't been an easy year for the varsity boy's basketball team. They faced the transition to AAA competition, which included playing star teams such as Snohomish and Marysville and the inexperience of the first-time varsity players. But somehow the team managed to survive. And to win. Coached by Gail Pintler, the team made a strong showing in WesCo competition.

by Jeff Pintler

■ "We have a lot of talent on the team, but we haven't played to our potential so far." -Rodger Edgar

■ "The highlight of our season was when we beat Marysville at Marysville in overtime. We were down by mass and we were able to come back. The game was being broadcast on radio, the gym was packed, the pressure was on, and we beat them on their own territory. We proved that yes indeed, we can play at the AAA level." -Jeff Pintler

■ "Our team nickname would be "The Comeback Kids" because when we fall behind we can always come back." -Troy Doerschel

A Success

*which stemmed from team talent, team spirit and team friendship -
girl's basketball*

This team was definitely a success when it comes to the formation of friendships both on and off the court and a close working relationship with first-year coach Tom Demetre. Despite the several injuries which plagued the team, they look forward to a promising season next year thanks to the addition of a strong 9th grade program.

by Erich Gedicks and Friends

■ "We were unique because we doubled our record from last year in the first two games we played." -Sumiko Huff

■ "The freshmen have really helped out a lot towards our having a winning team. Veronica Chang, for example, really did well because she is so fast on the court." -Stephanie Thom

■ "He (Jack LeGore) is everyone's favorite coach - he is fun, he is young at heart, but most of all, he's understanding." -Jennifer Pelton

■ "Having a 'rookie' coach (Tom Demetre) was tough at first, but I think he's starting to come around." -Angie Smith

Faculty

If I were a little fish and you were a little fish and all of our friends were little fish too, and if we all swam around in the same little sea, face it, the sea would be a mess. But if a few big fish decided to teach all of the little fish how to swim without bumping into each other, then the sea would be a much nicer place. Yet even with "swim through registration", every year we each end up with one or two big fish we don't know. We might get a short fish or a long-long drawn out fish. We might get some young fish, some high-jumping fishes, or even an old fish with long flowing whiskers. Some of us love salmon and some of us sicken at the thought, and we all like our salmon fixed different ways. But there is not the slightest doubt that teachers are The Big Fish around here and we talked to several of you who love your salmon just the way it is.

Freshmen

Perhaps a little something fresh? Salad, of course. Teeny freshpeople plucked from the garden of 8th grade, bathed in the wash of summer, and colored with a brilliant blend of Beta Carotene and extensive shopping. This is how they arrive. The fresh ones proceed to mill about in clusters: the lettuce, the tomatoes, the cucumbers, the carrots and the bacon bits. They crowd the new halls in awe, afraid to be tossed apart from their classmates. You can tell one by its cleansed outward appearance, achieved only from a fresh early morning shower. Seniors say that all freshpeople are recognizable by their formal dress: the French, the Italian, the Ranch and the Blue Cheese. The calorie conscious need not fear them, for they are both lightweight and chock full of vitamins. If stored properly, they should retain their nutritional value throughout their four-year stay. We recommend this dish to all daring diners unintimidated by a boldly colored, thoroughly dressed, vitamin-packed lightweight dish. SOMETHING FRESH: $103 . $121

FIRST DAY

Ten minutes before the alarm you leap out of bed. After showering, you run back into your room and fling open the closet doors revealing the outfit that it took you more than a week to create. A wholesome breakfast of Cheerios, toast, juice, and milk, then back upstairs to brush your teeth. Whatever you do, don't forget the mouthwash because today is the first day of high school — football games, tough classes, hot dates and the rest of your life.

■ "Very hectic! I got lost on the way to Washington State History. It was bad cuz' I asked a senior and I got led to the opposite end of the school. I didn't care. I thought it was funny!" -Damon Effenberger

OPEN CAMPUS

Jenny is so excited. For the first time in her life she can leave school without being questioned. Where do people go? Is it a good or bad thing to do? Why is it allowed? For the first time ever you fresh-people who don't want to take that big test fifth period can escape. All you have to do is walk away, and if you don't want to go home, there's Burger King, McDonalds, Taco Bell and Dairy Queen. Just make sure that when you decide to come back you have a good excuse.

Loaded down with books, Joey ran to his fourth period class. He slid into his seat 20 seconds too late, achieving his third tardy of the quarter. Sinking lower in his seat, opening up his text, unfolding his "Hot Rod" magazine, he promptly fell asleep. This is the story of Joey; yet another facet of freshman academics.

FANTASIES

Racing his Lamborghini down Aurora at 90 miles per hour, Grover saw the police car pull out in front of him. No big deal. No problem. Hitting the "Warp Speed" button, he shot down the street, ditched his pursuers, and careened into the south parking lot. Suddenly, a tennis ball struck Joey on the forehead, waking him from his dream.

HABITS

It is said that if you do anything everyday for 2 weeks it becomes a habit. When freshmen enter high school they begin a whole set of routines. By their second week, they habitually open their lockers, grab their books, and walk the halls to their various classrooms without so much as a second thought. That is not to say that all the habits picked up in high school are positive. Procrastination has been the bane of many freshmen's grade points.

■ "I've gotten into the habit of getting more exercise since high school started, part of it's from tennis and part of it's running from senior guys." -Laura Lager

Something you

How about some pizza? We all love it, but in this case it is just for You. Let me illustrate this by using our friend Sof Moore as an example. Sof is the ideal version of You. He is moving up in the world, broadening his horizons and expanding his field of interest. Sof is spirited and he can't wait until his 16th birthday. He has a spicy social life, a cheezy sense of humor and slightly doughy legs. But most of all, Sof is popular. He is found at all the right parties, games and dances. Sof is involved in drama and T.A.U. He takes all the best classes and plans ahead for his future. He plays sports and always waves to ASB officers in the hall. Pizza is popular and that is why You asked for it, so we decided You must be popular too. This dish is in high demand so it will cost you a bit more than the salad did. But if everybody wants some, then it must be good, right? We recommend this treat to those of you who like to shop at Nordstrom's. Our price? SOMETHING YOU: $122 - $140

SOAP OPERAS

What am I going to do? My life is a mess! I'm pregnant, and my boyfriend is dating my mother. We're desperately poor, and my druggie father stole our money to run off to the Bahamas with his secretary! Can you relate? Is this a sophomore or a soap opera?

■ "I would like to be Jennifer Horton from 'Days of Our Lives' because she is so pretty and energetic." -Alicia Taggart

■ "I hardly ever watch soap operas because the same thing happens over and over again, but with different people." -Kari Aadland

■ "I tape the soaps so I can watch them everyday after school; that's what video recorders are for!" -Arlene Lugtu

TRANSPORTATION

"I can't wait until I can drive!" sophomores say. However, there are three minor problems. First, you must wait for your 16th birthday. Second, you must pass a traffic safety course and the driver's test. And third, you must find something decent in which to travel! Here are some of the cars 'you' would least likely want to be seen in:

■ "Don't you just hate those beat up old Volkswagon Bugs?" -Roxanne West

■ "I suppose the ugliest car would be a brown pinto." -Brian Forster

■ "I can't stand old large cars! So large you can't fit them in the parking space!" -Thao Diep

■ "I could see my parents buying me an orange Pinto!" - Michelle Chang

Juniors

something earthy

How about some dirt? Something dirty? Since the day they were named, the juniors have been desperately seeking a positive parallel between themselves and their illustrious title. Well, now we think we may have discovered something earthy deep within the steamy heart of a simple baked potato. Connoisseurs agree that the best thing about a potato is what you put on top of it. And appearance conscious Dirt dresses in everything from Bum Equipment to the latest Ralph Lauren rugbies. Brown, oblong and dirty, they enter the 11th grade. Walking through the Junior year is, for them, like choosing from an array of condiments; adding a different topping for each new activity until finally they end up with a personalized creation, tagged "Broccoli, cheese and chives" and ready to become a senior. This dish is markedly more expensive than both the fresh salad and the trendy pizza, but it is one you can learn from and one you can call your own. We recommend it to those who aren't afraid to discover more about themselves and who haven't already finished planning their lives. SOMETHING EARTHY: $141 - $161

SICK DAYS

The alarm goes off. You lie in bed, warm and happy. You suddenly remember it's Monday. You groan and squirm deeper under the covers. How could anyone be expected to go to school on a day like today? After a sudden flu (long enough to get your parents out of the house), you're up and ready to go. What do you do when you stay home sick?

■ "I watch 'The Price is Right' and other game shows." -Arrow Wilber

■ "I go skiing." -Paul Jones

■ "I usually sleep in till around noon, then I get up and do something I've wanted to do for awhile. I sit around in my sweats and watch some movie I've recorded." -John Goodson

■ "I watch tv, eat, call up friends and see if they're sick ... which they're not. Or I sleep if I'm really sick." -Joon Huh

WASTING TIME

Looking at the clock again, she realizes only 10 minutes have passed. Thoughts racing through her mind, she decides there is only one thing left to do. She turns on the TV and spends yet another night with David Letterman. Whether they admit it or not, most Dirts don't start right in on their homework. Between school and bedtime, most end up "wasting time". How do you waste time?

■ "Being called by a friend who has nothing to say but wants to say it for hours." - Cindy Slocum

■ "Eating, because you just sit there and gain weight." - Kerri Curtin

■ "Watching TV has got to be the worst! Why not go out and have fun yourself instead of watching other people have fun!" - Keri Bailly

CURFEWS

With "one year and counting" before entering the "real world", being a Junior is no consolation when it comes to getting home from a date at 5 a.m. Parents have learned to keep a watchful eye on Dirt when enforcing a curfew. Earning mom and dad's trust is one battle, but facing their wrath is another.

■ "I would just get really yelled at." -Lisa James

■ "There would be a World War III." -Teri Archer

■ "I would get in trouble and wouldn't be able to leave the house." -Chini Chang

■ "I do have a curfew but nothing happens if I'm late. My parents just ask me why I was late and I tell them honestly where I was." -Sandee McBurney

■ "I wouldn't be able to go to California and I'd get the 20 questions. But I don't think if I came home like once a month past curfew by like a 1/2 hour I wouldn't get in that much trouble." -Patrece Coulter

VACATIONS

With school about to end, the long awaited summer has finally arrived. This can mean weeks of travel for Juniors. Whether they are family vacations or trips with friends, Dirts are eager to dig out those Hawaii prints, find their cameras, and get away from their everyday lives. If you could travel to any place in the world, where would you go?

■ "Scotland, because I have a thing for sheep, cattle, and bagpipes." -Wendy Sunderland

■ "I would go to Australia because I wouldn't have to speak a different language." -Cindy Slocum

■ "If I could go anywhere I would go to the Carribean just because I like the tropics." -Warland H. Wight

INTERESTING DATE

Has your date ever made you sit in the back seat, while she and her friend sit in the front? Have you ever gone out with a guy just because you didn't want to pay to see a movie? And have you ever had that one date that you were convinced was only a nightmare? The dates you try hardest to disown - those are the dates you will never forget.

■ "My friend and I went on a double date with these guys who make us sit in the back. When we got to our destination, the guys got out, shut the doors and walked off. We just sat there and they didn't remember that we were in the car until 1/2 hour later." -Jennifer Johnson

■ "First he wants to stop and pick up a pair of pants. fine. An hour and a half later we leave, purchases totaling $1.50. This guy isn't poor, just stupid. Ten after the movie he starts to preach about his religion. Basically if I didn't change my ways I was going to hell. When we got to my house I slammed the car door and went straight to bed at 10:45." -anonymous

Seniors speak

Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous? Who knows better than the debonaire class of '88. Seniors displayed a wide variety of lifestyles and attitudes that did not exist when they were freshman. Four years back, what freshman would dare to skip school and go shopping? What freshman would dare be an individual, apart from the crowd? The Dudes have come a long way, climbing the ladder to the top - where they belong!

■ "I'm more social . . . have more fun, more friends, and more freedom." -Betty Fullner-McIntosh

■ "I'm always on a very tight schedule, but I guess it's because I have more responsibilities." -Janet Helman

■ "I find it more easy to get along with people - including teachers" -Heidi Pacher

■ "I catch myself thinking about the future a lot, and I never used to do that when I was a freshman." -Christine Kim

■ "I have a more blatant disregard for any kind of establishment." -Robin Jones

■ "I get weird more often in public than I did when I was a freshman." -Phil Hamilton

■ "It hasn't changed . . . we're still persecuted!" -Jane Greenwood

■ "I'm still as big as a Goddess - as I was when I was when I was a freshman." -Nancy Bronson

As his name is called, he steps forward. A flash of light blinds him when the camera is snapped. Something is put into his hand, his diploma! Strutting down the aisle his face suddenly lights up with a smile. He looks at all his friends and knows that this is a moment he will never forget.

■ "I will remember Mike and all of his friends that I got to know." - Sandi Kline

■ "The prom - because whatever I do that night I probably will feel guilty for it." -Steve Sheetz

■ "I will remember the Homecoming assembly the most because we had to wear those togas." -Angie Burns

■ "The hot and luscious guy I secretly admired in the Senior class." -Tina Kim

■ "Starting three games at wide receiver for the football team and my 62 yard touch down pass." -Troy Olason

■ "Steve, the man, the myth, the legend as he single-handedly destroyed his freshman classes' chance at even placing in the Homecoming competition." - Andy Pym

■ "Taking long lunches and going on shopping sprees!" -Shannon McLeod

■ "My good friends, the laughter, and the pain we went through and the good times we had being in class together everyday." - Stacey Reiman

Seniors speak

Other than just being a SENIOR, what did the class of 1988 enjoy the most about being the leaders of the school? Was it the fact that they got more privileges than the underclassmen? Or was it the ability to get away with almost anything in the pursuit of happiness? Or could it be for some other sinister reason? But was it all good? Harvey, the spirit keg is gone. The grading system lowered grade points. And the senior parking lot is gone.

■ "I finally know where the classrooms are ... sort of." -Tracy Martin

■ "There's nothing particularly distinguishing about being a senior, except that I'll be out of this hellhole sooner than every other class." -Stephen Thielke

■ "All of a sudden, your past mistakes are upon you. Most of your decisions are made now — that's what's bad about being a senior." -Drew Middlebrooks

■ "I like the special things we get to do this year. Senior spree, the prom, free periods ... I've spent three years envying these privileges and now I've got them." -Heather Smith

■ "After being here for four years, I know the teachers and counselors. I like this; I can get away with more than I used to." -Paul Kemmish

■ "What do I like best about being a senior? Not being a frosh, sophomore, or junior. What do I like the least? Portrait of the Artist." -Blaine Peterson

Seniors speak

As she walks toward the podium to deliver her speech, she suddenly falls flat on her face - in front of her classmates. Reluctantly, she looks up to see who noticed and stands up in total embarrassment. Although temporarily humiliated, she knows later she will look back and smile.

■ "My most embarrassing experience here was when Mr. Clayton kissed the top of my head in front of the whole class." -Vicky Johnson

■ "My worst experience was when I went to school after having my wisdom teeth pulled and being called 'Chipmunk'." -Elizabeth Hodgkin

■ "When Jay Alspach got his index finger stuck in a Dr. Pepper bottle - God, that was the worst!" -Roger Edgar

■ "In Honors Biology, we had to do a botany experiment. The day before it was due, I tried to grow an avacado. Needless to say, it didn't grow - maybe I just didn't give it enough water and it got too much sun. Thanks for the 'B' Mrs. Schulz." -Keith Teske

■ "I once fell asleep during class and later when I woke up, they were watching me and saying that I mumbled in my sleep." -Renee Granade

■ "I was swinging on the football goal post and when I jumped down, I landed smack on my face instead of my feet! Boy, was that embarrassing!" -Shannon Bevan

Seniors speak

We, the class of 1988, being of confused mind and athletic body, leave behind our most treasured possessions and excellent abilities to the underclassmen!

■ "I, David Bergmann, will my incredible soccer coaching abilities to Nikki Martinez, and my good looks to Robin Fuchs."

■ "I, Julie Hartz, will my luxury oldsmobile station-wagon with the heart sticker on back, to my loving brother John!"

■ "I, Jennifer Craig, will my top locker to my two favorite sophomore buds, Jeff and Paul, who have bottom lockers."

■ "I, Ravi Pallipamu, will my awesome tennis game to Loren Callahan . . . he'll need it!"

■ "I, Ann Gibson, will all my ex-boyfriends to the junior girls. Keep your hands off taken men!"

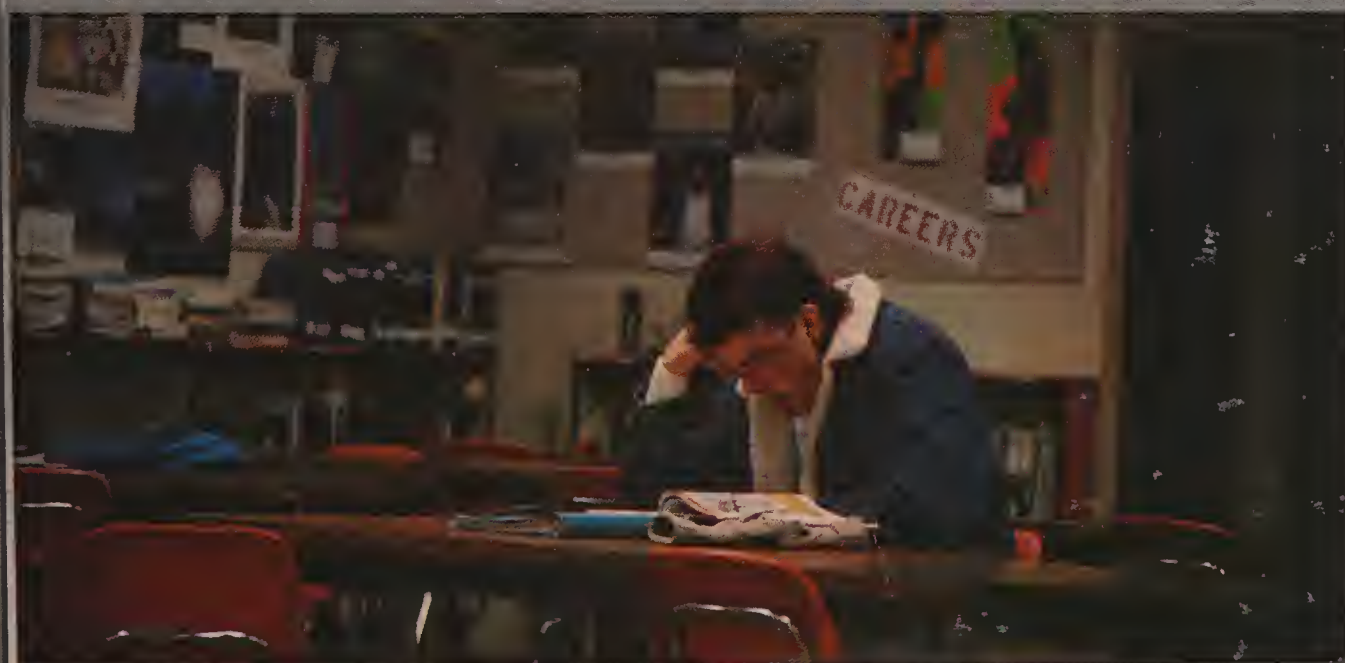

■ "I, Jenn Larsen, will my cutting sarcasm to future members of 'Jimmy' Alderdice's classes."

■ "I, Sarah Wright, will the senior parking lot, the chairs in the lunchroom, and my ASB card to whomever knows where to find them."

■ "I, Kevin Richardson, will my copies of Dark Side of the Moon, The Wall, and School is Hell to all underclassmen seeking ways to a good, positive attitude."

■ "I, Darcie Jorgenson, will my watch that ticks too loud to whoever will take it."

Junk

Junk food ... the driving force of Shorewood High. Foods such as pop tarts, hot dogs, and pretzels all of which are top sellers, and keep the store a Mecca of junk food and a top producer of litter. The cafeteria on the other hand, is the ultimate fresh hand-gout, music, vending machines and it's so close they don't have to ride their bikes.

In an average day the cafeteria goes through 135 pounds of french fries, which is the average weight of a freshman boy, a day. And in 2 weeks they go through five pounds of vegetable shortening, so that's were all that acne come from.

Jeni Christensen and Cathy Goett say, "During break we go to the store to get some good junk food but we leave disgusted after watching swarms of junior girls devouring their diet pop and granola dips."

Yes . . .

*it's spirit week
and time to get wild*

Spirit week gave Thunderbirds a chance to show their school spirit, as well as a few relics from their parents' closet! The student council created a few new and original themes as well as some old favorites. In coordination with the cow chip raffle, one of our themes was Moo Day. Other themes for spirit week were Hat Day, Era Day, Costume Day and Dress-up Day.

■ "Hey - next year I think we should seriously think about having a Buck-naked-day, or at least a bathing suit day. But the faculty probably won't like that too much." -Cliff Weeks

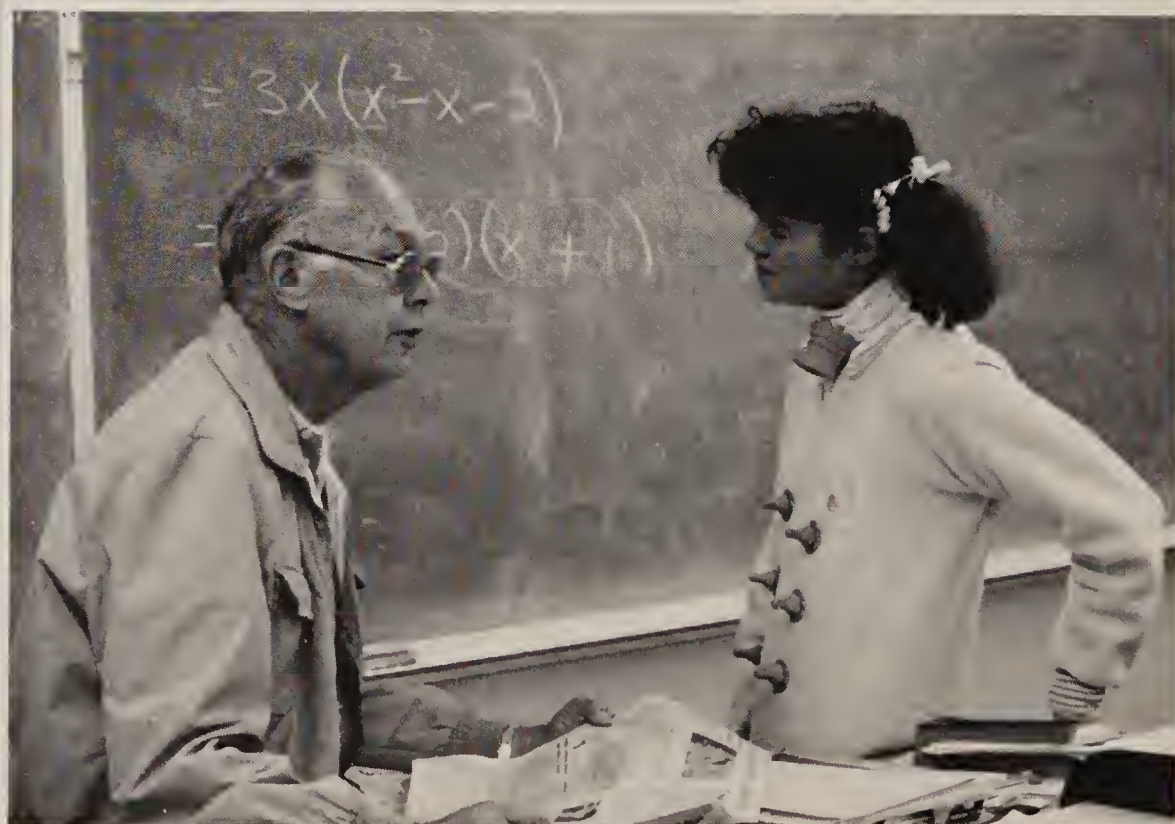

■ "I found that Deseret Industries was a good place to find clothes for Era Day." -Mike Garbin

■ "Era day was the most fun for me . . . it was also the only day I had a costume for." -Thomas Hwang

Mobs

*of people laughing
and cheering for their class*

This was the scene as students crowded into the gym to await the final decision of who would become king and queen and, also, which class would earn the most homecoming points. The judging of each class was based on bleacher decorations, run-through signs, skits, and the amount of spirit links sold. And, it was the senior class that came out on top.

■ "I liked having the competition with Shorecrest and watching their ASB officers get pies in their faces. I think that we should challenge them next year, also." - Daryl Smith

■ "Everyone was shocked when I ripped off my toga during the senior skit. I had on flesh-colored underwear, and it's a good thing I was also wearing a fig because otherwise we would have been disqualified. The judges said it was offensive but everyone else thought it was funny." -Eric Corone!

Royalty

homecoming court
it's "the dream we all dream of"

A special and emotional time for those involved. This year's 1987 Homecoming Court consisted of 10 individuals who have contributed time and energy here at Shorewood, in their activities as well as their school spirit. The 1987 King and Queen were David Bergmann and Karen Bennett. The remainder of the court included Tanya Blaylock, Edna Pulido, Jenny Nobriga, Sarah Wright, John Coppes, Bill Uran, Scott Tripps, and Jack Bobin.

■ "I thought this was the nicest and most organized Homecoming Shorewood has ever had." - Mr. Gustafson

■ "I had fun at dinner but then got dumped at the dance for the King!" - Jeff Olsen

■ "I remember as a freshman, I'd look up at the court and think how old they were ... but this time it was me, I couldn't believe I was King." - David Bergmann

■ "It was totally intense and very well planned." - David Baker

A line of football players stand in complete concentration, while the National Anthem is sung.

The kickoff was perfect and the game had begun. Even though the weather was less than desirable, it didn't dampen the spirits of Shorewood's wonderful cheering section. The stadium was packed with screaming fans and the excitement continued throughout the entire game. With the help of the crowd, Shorewood defeated Lynnwood, 7-0. Great Game T-birds!!

■ "I saw a lot of enthusiasm in the crowd and I had a blast myself." - Kim Ransom

■ "The game was exhilarating and stimulating!" -Jeff Browning

■ "I've never had so much fun in the rain!" -Tarina Leeland

Top

Forty-is it real music or is it frivolous pop fluff?

Music. The universal language. Bah. Whoever agrees on music anyway? It is virtually impossible to find two people with the same musical views. Some people might find true revelation in Scruffy the Cat while others might just find it to be loud and perverse. Then there is the controversial subject of Top Forty. Is it repetitive, frivolous pop fluff or does it have some redeemable qualities? Well . . . it's usually danceable. What is real music - Pink Floyd, Mozart, DOA, or Madonna?

■ "New Order is the hottest group right now. They have good music to dance to and have complicated rhythms." - Mike Hill

■ "Depeche Mode understands what teen-agers are going through and interpret that into a lot of their songs. Plus they're good-looking." - Corinna Jennings

"Yeah. My mom said I could buy a new outfit?" replied Linda.

"Will you save me a dance?"

"Sure. See ya there!!!" said Linda as she ran off to the mall.

With the approach of the weekend, some students look forward to dancing off the stress of the past week, but for some, school dances lack the atmosphere and the music that students enjoy.

It's been said that fashion waits for no man, or something like that. This fall, those girls afraid to show a little leg and brave the cold winter days definitely fall behind the latest fashion craze. Parents tend to have strange ideas about what their children do and do not do which, of course, causes rebellious action on the child's part. Children are forced by power-hungry authoritarian parents to lie (unwillingly mind you), sneak out, and break their curfews. Then there's parties. They sure have changed. Or is it? It could be a communist plot to turn the minds of Americans into a substance closely resembling raspberry jam. It is a concern of many parents that TV in this day and age is no good whatsoever while others feel that it is quite the positive influence in our lives. Is TV a source of wondrous visions and stimulating ideas or is just a time-waster emitting strange rays specifically designed to turn the minds of Americans to condiments?

Religion:

open-mindedness is the key

The halls of Shorewood contain a wide variety of individuals. Not surprisingly, a wide range of religious beliefs can also be found among the students. In 1988 religion merged with another controversial issue - politics - as they met head on in the presidential race. Religion captured America's attention as the media covered the fall of the PTL and the luxurious lifestyles of it's leaders.

Among students, religion is a personal subject, yet one which individuals deem important to their lives. Acceptance of others and freedom of choice are, according to Shorewood students, necessary when dealing this sensitive subject.

■ "I don't question my religion, I just believe. There is no need for me to ask questions."

■ "I feel my religion is the best way, maybe not for everyone, but for me it is."

Pat "TV-Evangelist-Turned-Politician" Robertson brought religion and politics together.

1987-88 was a year which represented the in's and out's of politics, the constant flow of news, and, of course, the juicy gossip. The news ranged from the Iran-Contra scandal to the devastating stock market crash, and included everything else that lies in between. Then there was the 200th birthday of the U.S. Constitution and the Olympics. It was a year of gold, pride, and prestige.

■ "Seeing that I was forced to learn every aspect of our involvement with Latin America in detail, I have to say our Latin -American relations have influenced me to hate controversial foreign affairs." -Julie Bell

■ "I think that the Super Bowl XXII has influenced me the most, because Doug Williams was the first black quarterback to start and he ended up being the MVP." - Joe Lorig

by S. Kang and R. Clark

Besides crippling the American economy, the stock market crash brought anger, poverty, and even death.

Sarah Jolly, exchange student from Australia has lead panel discussions on AIDS. Says Sarah, "Americans have much to learn about AIDS. Lack of knowledge here is contributing to fear."

Lunchtime AIDS Panel: Amy Taylor, Vicky Johnson, Sarah Jolly, Adrian Heinsohn, Shoshanna Press, Jason Vandenberghe, Joosong Hyun.

The purpose of the lunchtime AIDS panels was to inform and share fears and facts. Panel members like Shoshanna Press and Jason Vandenberghe, experts in the field of Venerial Disease, help to inform the public. Says Vandenberghe: "Students here think of AIDS as a gay problem, and don't realize the magnitude." Shoshanna Press adds: "Homosexuals make up 18-20% of any population, that's 1 in 10 or so, yet students seem to think that Shorewood's population of 1400 is entirely straight. Only by continuing to inform the public and by opening people's eyes to the problem will we succeed in conquering it."

A survey of 180 students gives pleasing results. In actual fact, at the present time heterosexual non-drug users make up a mere 1% of AIDS cases in America.

"One of the misconceptions about AIDS is that it only affects gay men. That's not true. AIDS affects everyone—men, women and children."

"Each of us must realize that we have the responsibility for keeping AIDS out of our lives. We must learn about AIDS. We must share what we know with our families."

— Eric Engstrom
AIDS Project Director
Minneapolis, MN

"My son died of AIDS. He was 21 years old. We must be totally open, honest and sincere in discussing AIDS with our children. It could save their lives."

Holding high his work of art at the campus day assembly, Dick Wetterauer thanks Horizon for their dedication of the annual and recommends the book to the school.

Pat Hegarty - This was definitely the best. Unorthodox, weird, frustrating, but great. Good job, all!!!

Jason Hopper - Brazil nuts really turn me on! And I am a strong supporter of nerd incarceration. Oh yeah, Happy Bar Mitzvah to you too, Phil. Thud thud thud.

Gonzo - If you can't laugh at yourself, make fun of other people.

Keck and Pink - We're here to stay and if you don't like it Hegarty, you can get out.

Morina Harder - When the powers that be made copy editor of me, they promised not to tie me to the Apple. I'm learning not to be so gullible.

Briedl Treece - "It's plnk! It's pink! OK. Don't have a cow." Is this something I want to show to my grandkids? (Give me about 60 years to think about it). By the way, I'm not the youngest staffer anymore!!

Heidi Blauert - Why write what I feel - I'm flunking this class anyways.

Michele Soots - "You want more quotes. I just got you 5!" Oh well, another day at the annual staff room.

Sue Kang - Annual Staff is not hell. It's worse. It's Dylan's firepit, ya that's it. No, it's Hegarty's firepit, ya that's it. No, it's both. Seriously though, I love you both dearly. You can believe what you want Dylan, but you are definitely weirder than me.

Rebecca Clark - It has been a process of ups and downs. Between the deadlines and pizza parties, it was a blast.

Cindy Torkelson - I can finally draw a straight line with a ruler. I'm sure Jason will be proud of me. I was coerced into taking annual by my best friend but I wouldn't suggest it to anyone unless they are really off-center.

Beth Barret - I love the annual but I'm really stressed right now. Go away.

Phil Hamilton - Bonnie Wassall is an ice cream bar. And annual is like a vacation. In the Middle East. Wrapped in an American flag. Shouting, "Look at me! I'm an American!" Happy Bar Mitzvah. Thud thud thud.

Bonnie Wassall - No, I'm nothing really, not an ice cream bar or a pair of argyle socks. I'm just Bonnie Waffall and I love annual staff!

Lillian Hillman - It's been a real experience getting all these quotes and finding out they don't get used. Sorry to those people who thought they would be in the annual and aren't.

Karen Carl - Once again, annual has left me speechless. But at least with Kristi, Sue, and Lucy around, it was entertaining.

Kristi Beckton - Annual staff was so fun and I am a better person because of it. Yes, Lucy, I'm being sarcastic.

Lucy Nguyen - Who cares about the awards? Annual staff is the best.

The Horizon staff is busily working on campus day, trying to distribute annuals.

Volume 13 of HORIZON was printed by Josten's at its Visalla, CA plant. Our Josten's representative was Milt Bean. Cover art was designed by Dick Wetterauer. Copy was set in either Avant Garde or Jefferson type style. All film was developed and printed by Yuen Lul Studios. 1500 copies of HORIZON were printed and sold to the student body for $30-$35. Inquiries about this volume should be made to: HORIZON STAFF, Shorewood H.S., 17300 Fremont Ave. N., Seattle, WA, (206) 361-4372.

Didja give blood? Probably not, as 1,576 of us didn't. However, 113 students and staff DID give blood on April 19, when the Puget Sound Blood Bank rolled in for the annual Blood Drive. While TBRDS gave up their lifes-blood, this is what some of them had to say: "I gave blood 'cos it sounded fun. I enjoyed it." -Trina Haynes. "The tube is warm coming out of your arm, but don't look." -Bev Hastig.

Sponsored by KIRO and the P.I., the Olympic Scholar contest was designed to recognize seniors who have made outstanding contributions to the community. Semi-finalists were M. Chang, A. Carney, L. Nguyen, R. Oh, B. Schmidt, and M. Lanegraff. Winners of the $1000 award were Carney and Oh. Winners of the $500 award were Schmidt and Lanegraff. "To be happy," says Oh, "is to be a $1000 cow."

For the second consecutive year, the faculty had a "secret pal." The purpose of this was for the faculty to develop that special relationship that students here have. The head of this organization is Sherry Morgan and although it is optional, the majority of teachers have chosen to participate and receive wacky, nice, and sometimes crude gifts. For them, it was a delightful change of pace.

Off with a bang, the ASB elections were filled with a few surprises (i.e. George Michael impersonations and Kenny Rogers imitators, along with our own version of Sesame Street relived!). Next year's officers are: President Sam Adondakis, Vice-President Rich Gustafson, Treasurer Gerson Dacanay, Corresponding Secretary Christie Uran, and Recording Secretary J.J. Crow.

The varsity baseball team has had an unbelievable year. They finished 4th in the league and during the Wesco Playoffs, they beat Cascade 5 to 3, Shorecrest 4 to 3, and Oak Harbor 5 to 3. The team is top in the Northwest Region and is competing in the State Tournament. Says Coach Demetre, "I'm very proud of the kids. Their hard work and effort is really being rewarded." Good job!

This year's Mother Daughter Dessert was hosted by TAU. The successful night included two fashion shows. One from THE WEDDING CONNECTION, and the other from NORDSTROMS. All the models looked great. Special thanks went to Ms. Sue Melchoir who was a guest speaker. If you missed this exciting event, make it next year.

As usual, campus day turned out to be a surrealistically beautiful day. The friendly sun smiled down on us, watching as pink yearbooks passed from hand to hand and students sold cotton candy, frozen yogurt, and throws at the dunk tank.

At the Senior Assembly, Mary Fossatti emceed, doing her impression of the church lady, a popular character from "Saturday Night Live." Music was provided by the faculty band. Mike Benson shook the seats with Hendrix's "Purple Haze" and the weird mighty Mike Smith made Shorewood rock to the classic "Johnny B. Good" and Oman Quijano led the school with the Top 40 hit "Wishing Well" and the classic "On Broadway." The lip sync provided a good throb of a background for the passing of annuals. Says Bill Sullivan, senior, "Campus day is the best - puppy dogs run wild on campus day!"

Mary "Church Lady" Fossatti keeps her hands safely above the skirt.

Pat Hegarty, resplendent in his annual staff t-shirt takes a dip in the dunk tank.

Scott Tripps and Tony Hoskins do the lip sync thing while Shorewood looks on as a mass of pretty faces.

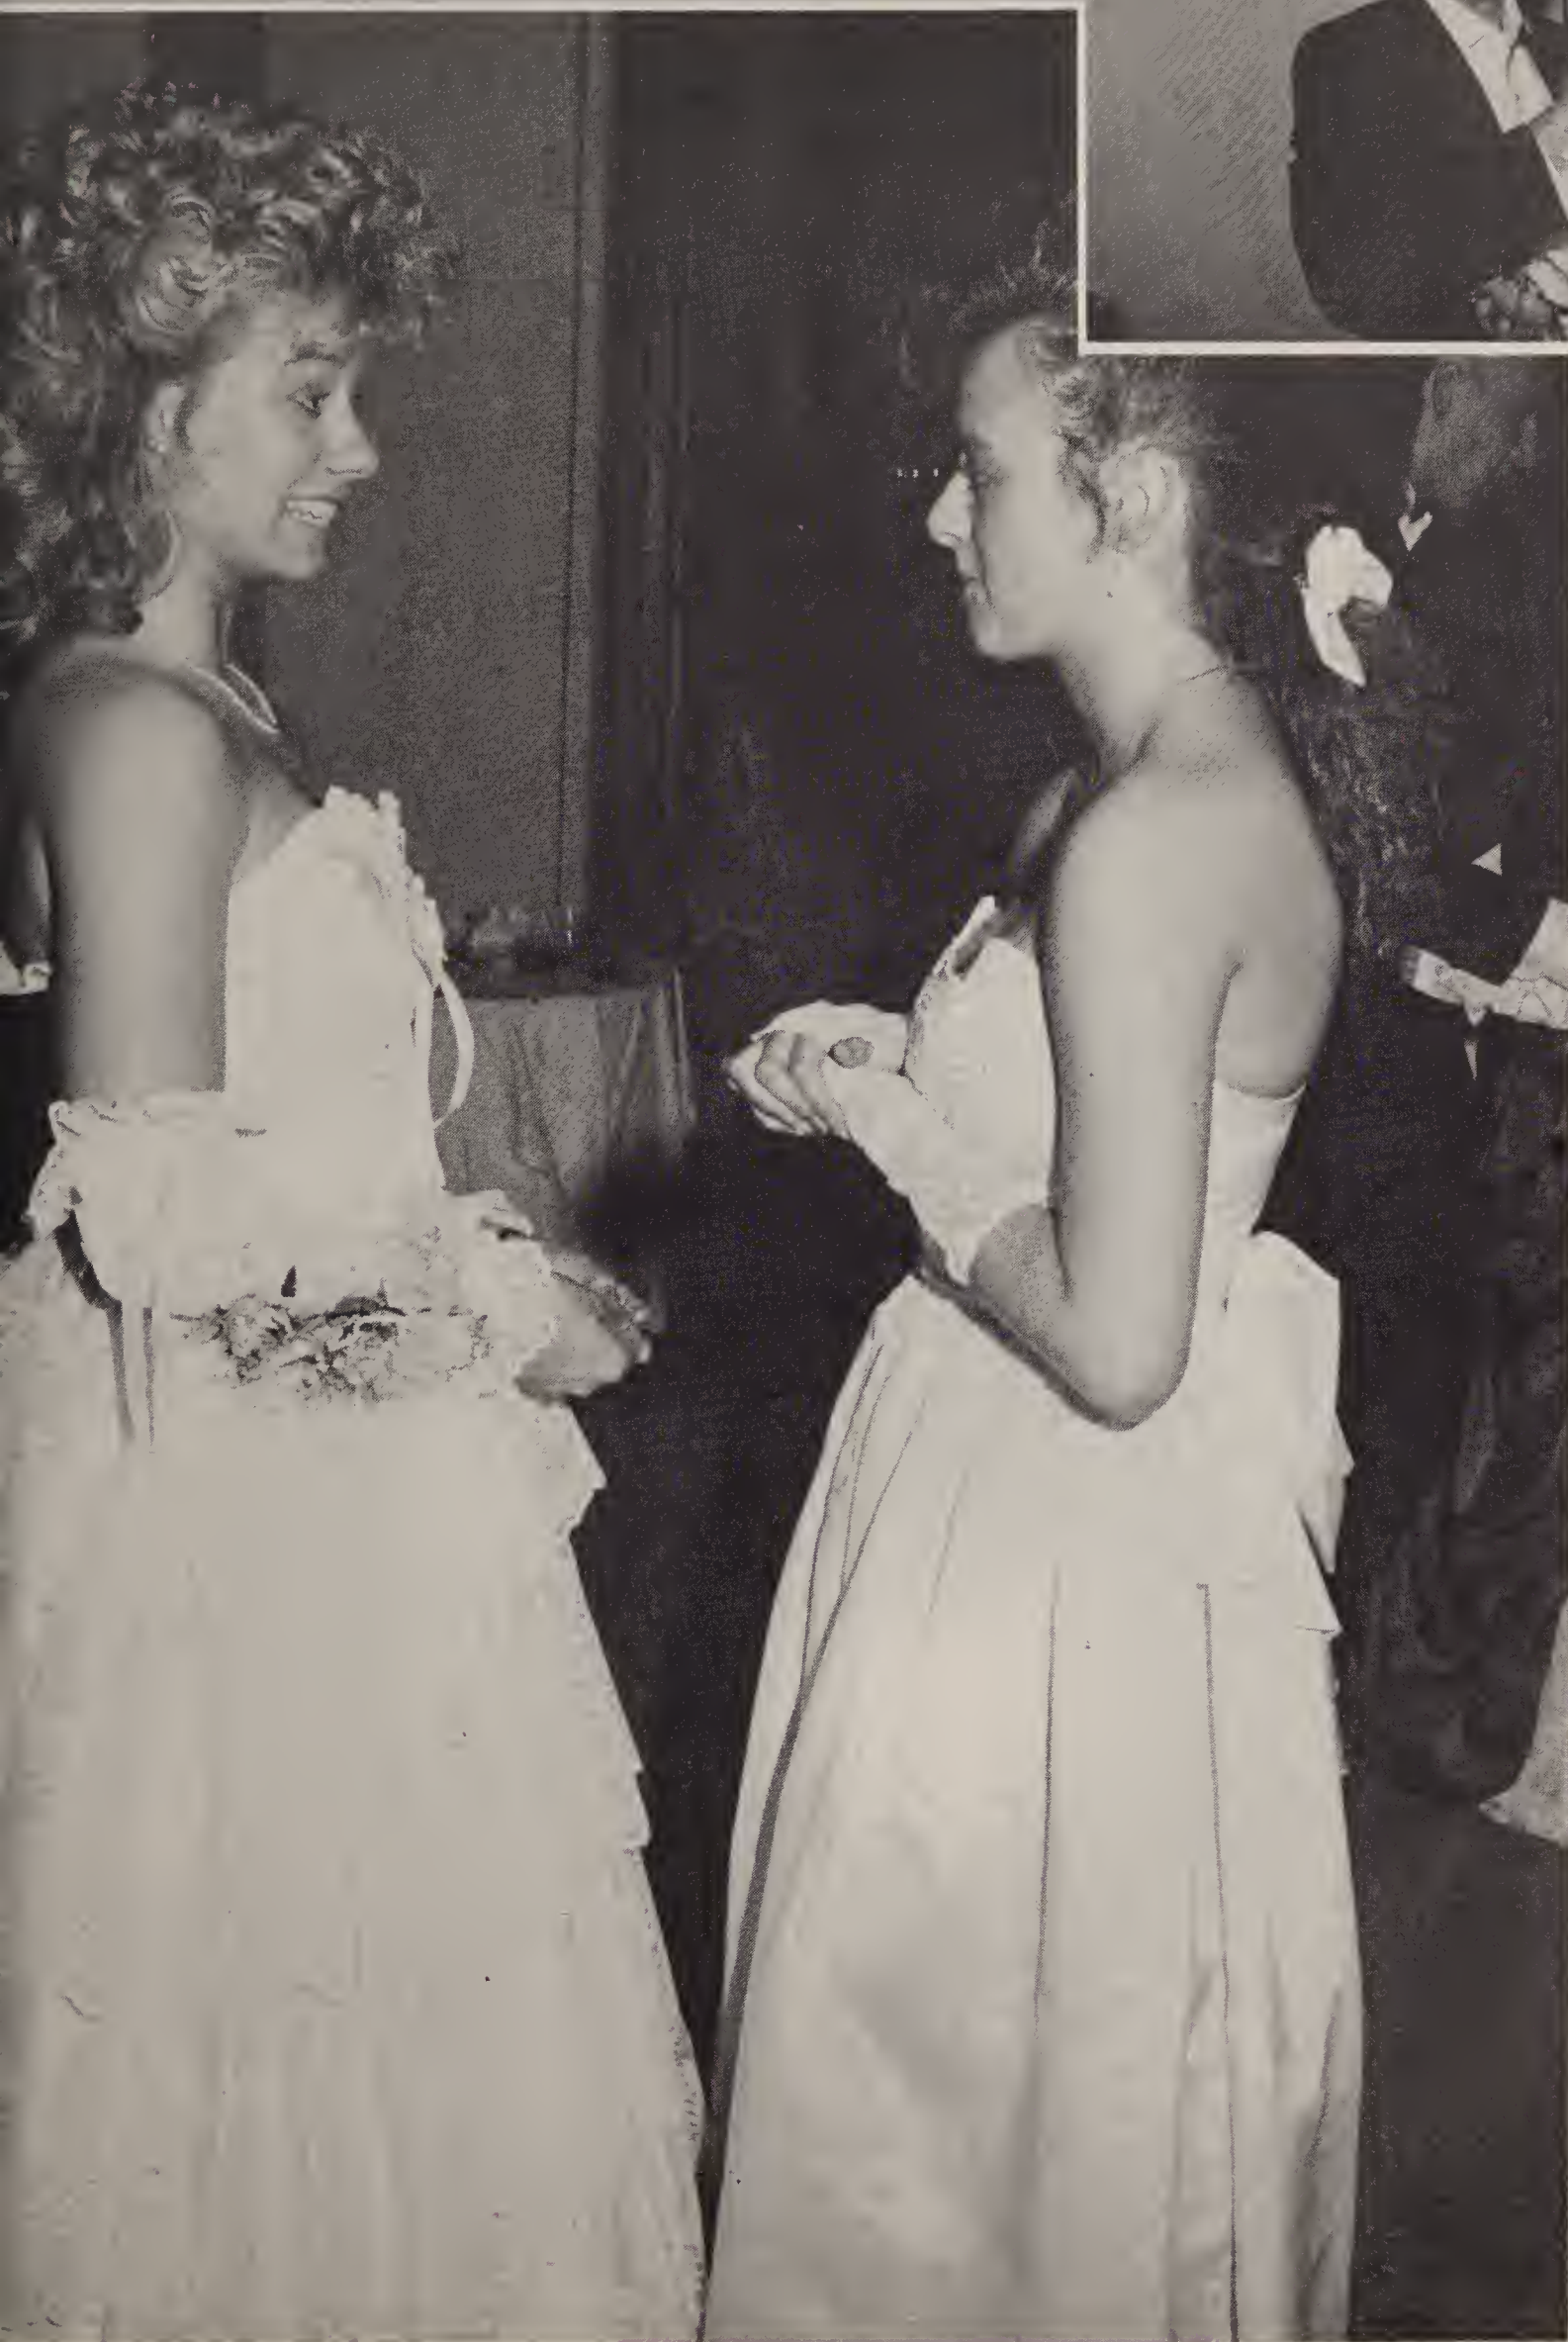

The '88 Senior Prom, in ten years, who will remember the details? Remember the cool, star-gilded night when we donned tuxedos and gowns and danced to music which forever after shall make us nostalgic. Remember the five foot ice sculpture of intertwined eights? And the food, untouched by students returning from dinners at the high society spots in town? Harken back to the sheer decadence of the night. A splurge cost-ing between $100 and $1000, numbers which, though incredible as an amount to spend for one evening are quickly tallied. Gowns and tuxedos, prom tickets, limosines, and hotel rooms, Shorewood lived it up.

Scott Tripps crowns Tarina Leeland as Prom Queen while Mike Chang (Prom King) and the rest of the court wait for the dance to begin.

Karleen Brown and Danielle Hopkins giggle about what they had at dinner.

Jason Bleha snaps his bow tie onto Julie Ask's neck.

Barb Koontz said upon finding her car "I have to admit they did an awesome job."

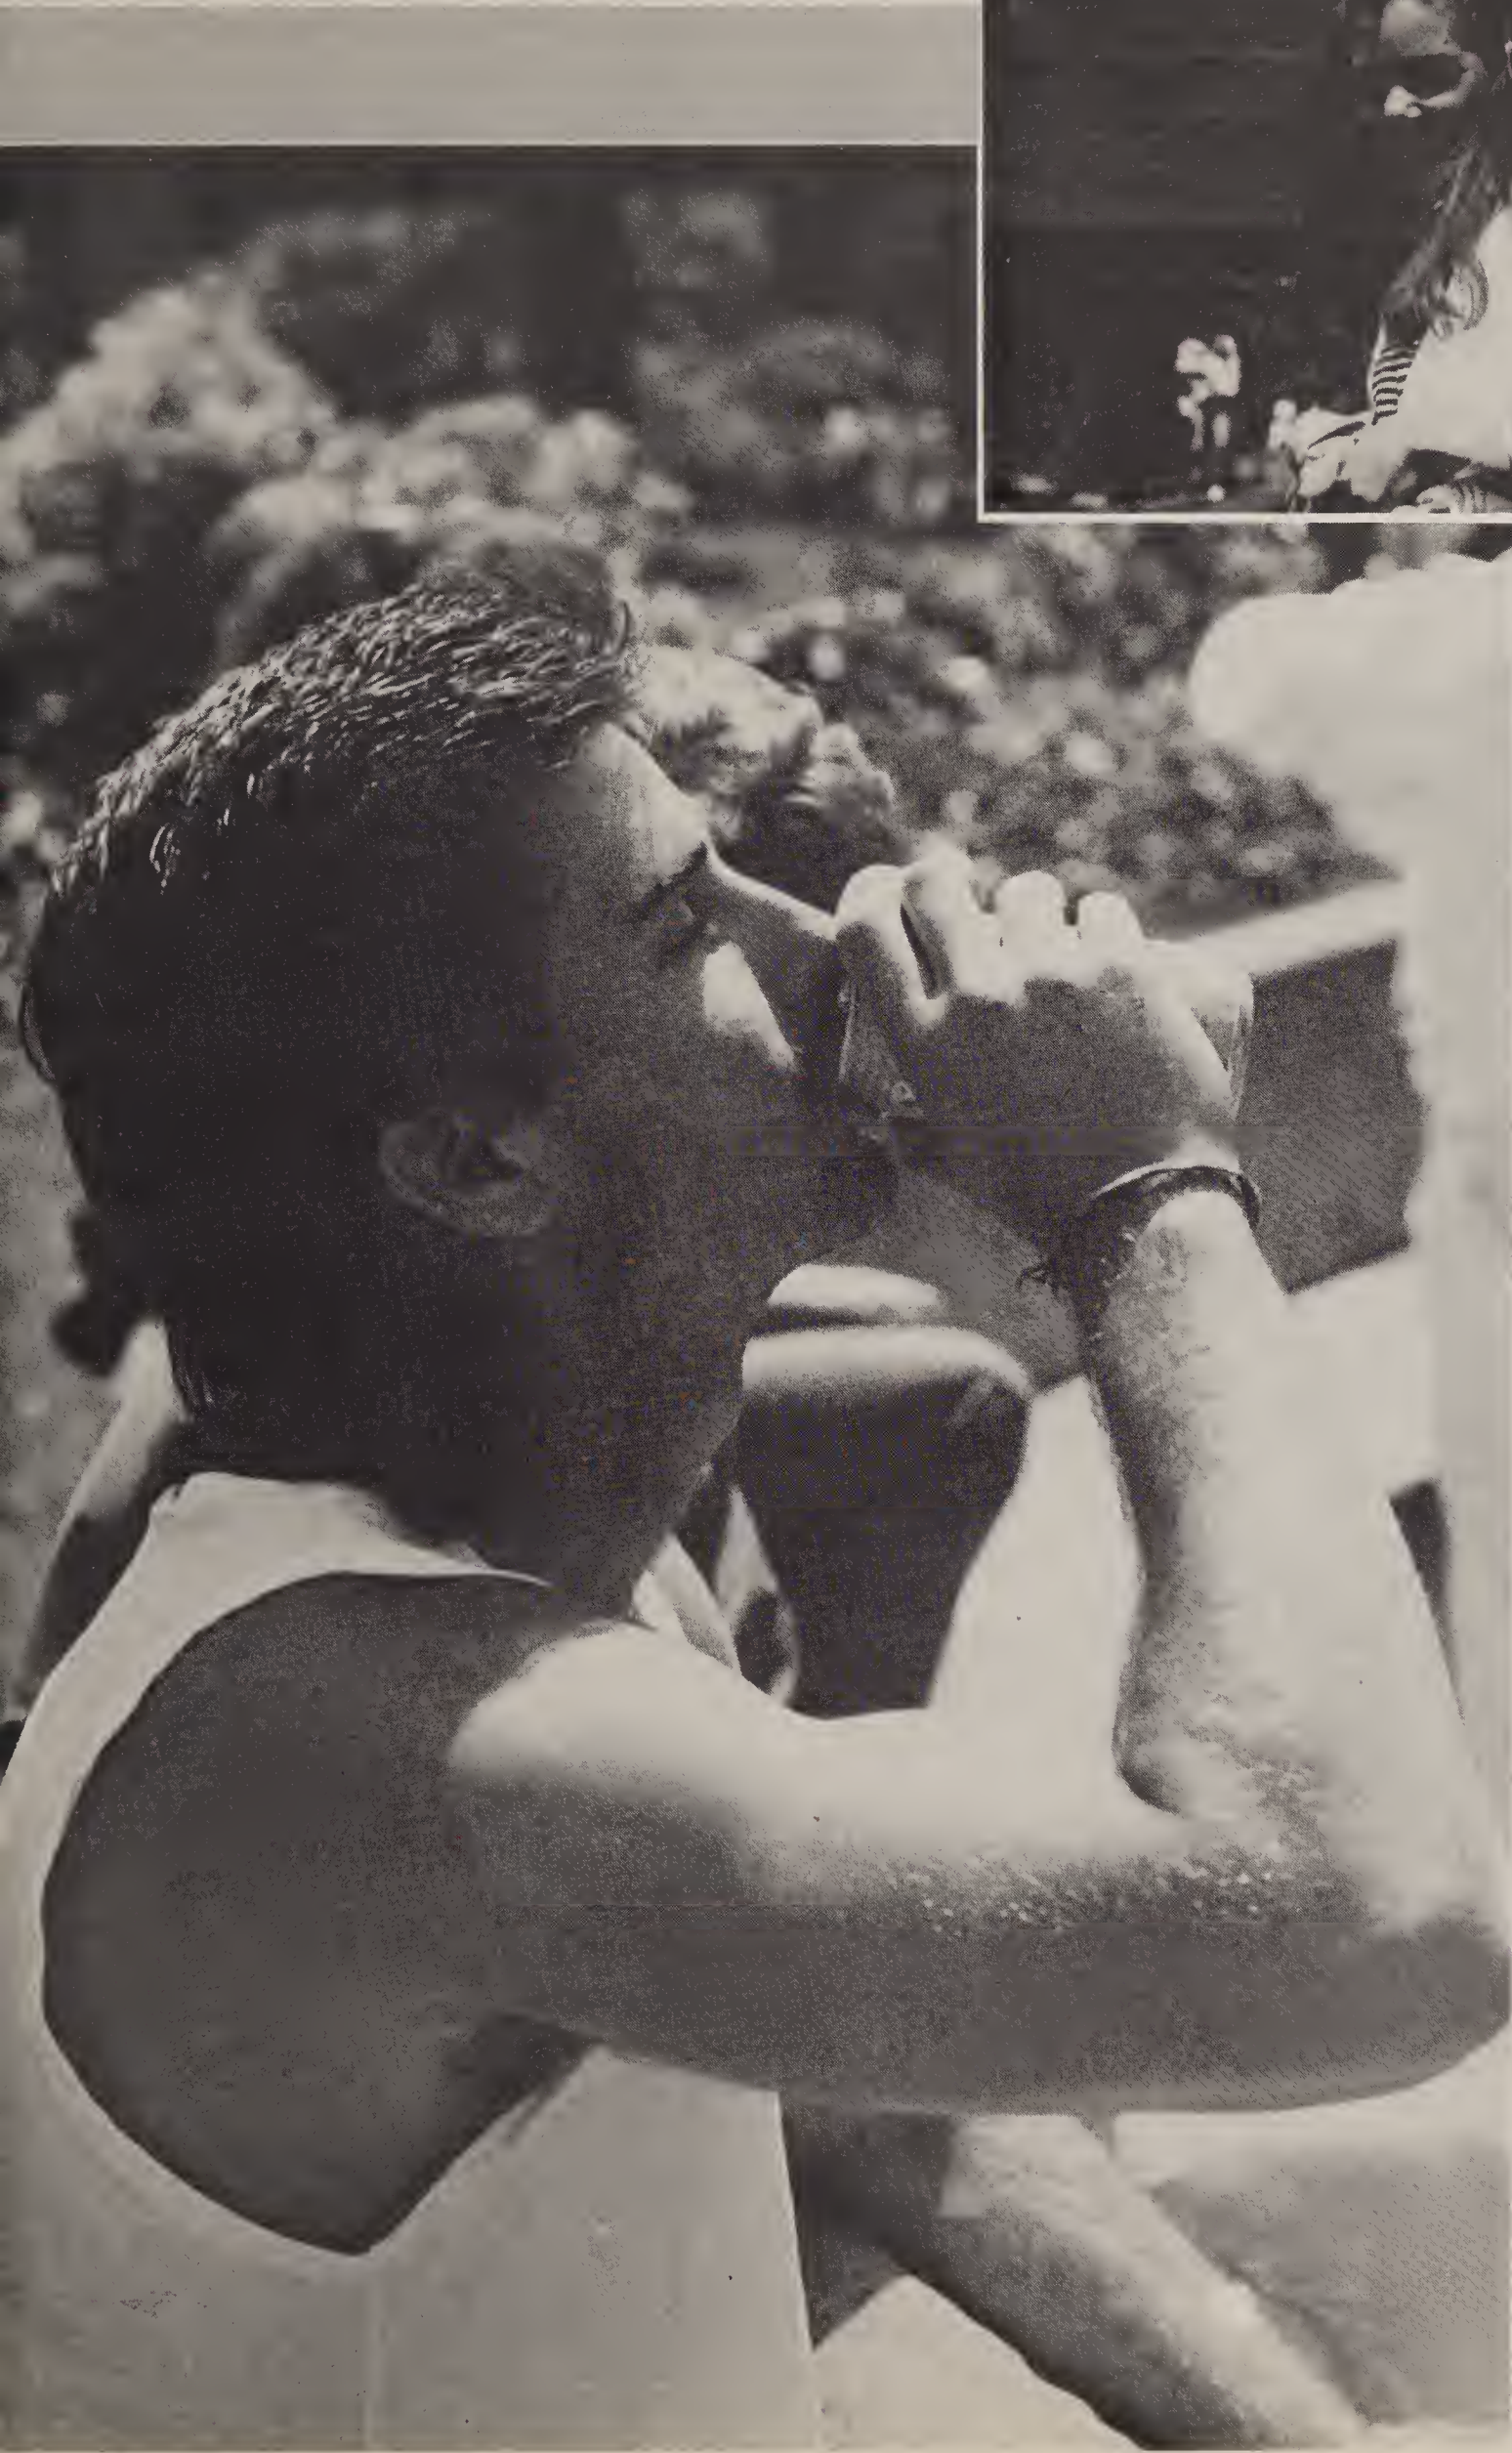

During a parade, drum major Jeff Brown suspiciously eyes the streets of Ballard.

Cindy Gatcheco nearly steps on a mouse while performing her routine.

Eric Coronel and Heidi Wheller share a good-bye hug, as only seniors can.

Matt Brunson downs a refreshing, full-bodied diet soda.

Now will the real 9th Grade team please stand up again?
Team members: Celeste O'Brien, Donna Lee, Amy Taylor,
Andrea Leeland, Laura Lager, Cathy Kinyoun, Kristie Toolson, Eryn Stapleton, Kim Olson, Tina Wilfong, Jennifer Gosden, Erin Kirkpatrick with coach Lisa Olson.

Mary Berry has so much style-she even studies stylish!

When was the last time this guy took a shower?!

Eric Wahl awaits his victory graduation.

Mr. Alderdice relaxes with his Ideas class after all those senior theses are finally over.

Senior Seth Anderson wants to pump YOU up!

AIDS

*ignorance
isn't bliss*

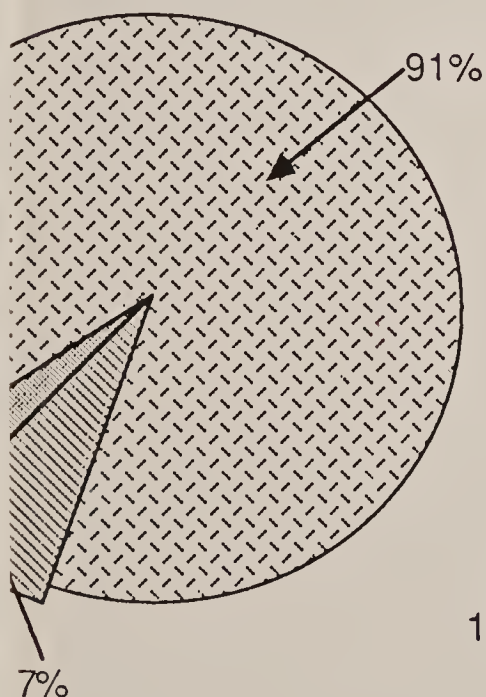

What's this? Two pages on AIDS? In your yearbook? Well Shorewood, let's face the facts. Although none of us want to accept it, the numbers say that AIDS will touch us all by the year 2000 and AIDS is a problem we cannot run away from.

The denial of the problem by the American public as a whole, as well as the propaganda circulating on the touchy AIDS subject, has led to ignorance and an unwillingness to speak on the part of students. Yet even with said uncertainty and reluctance as a backdrop, our health teachers and media continue their struggle to enlighten the Shorewood masses.

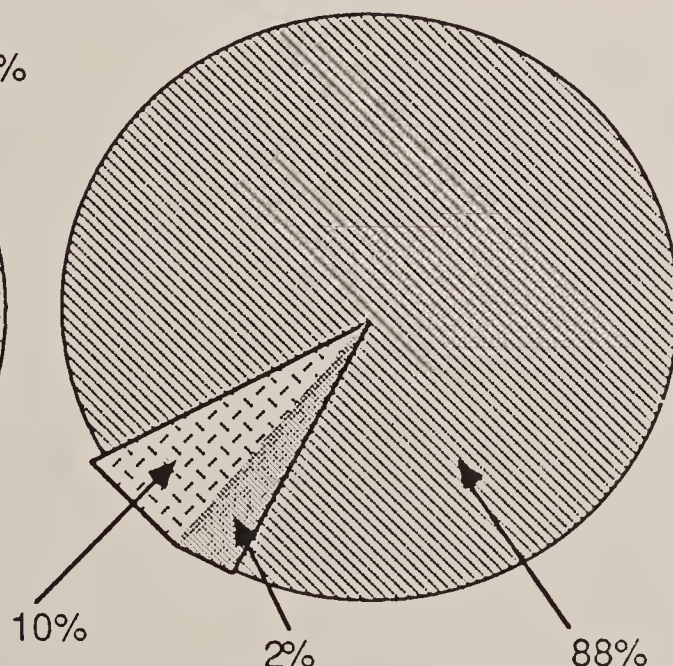

Is AIDS a gay plague? Or as one presidential candidate claims, "A gift from the Almighty to wipe out the immoral drug users and homosexuals." NO. The sorry truth is that AIDS is a problem due to affect us all. We must open our eyes and deal with its effects as well as we as a school, a people, and a culture can.

Do you get AIDS by Kissing someone who is infected?

Would you continue attending
Shorewood if an AIDS patient Attended?

Yes
  No
  Don't Know

The facts: It is difficult to get AIDS by kissing, and almost impossible through casual contact. Thus, the 10% who wouldn't stay in school are uninformed.

May.

Hey look at us, we're Done! I love it. Remember 1st period U.S. History oh how sickening
Mrs. Lake has got to go! Now! well babe I'm sorry we never got to go out an play but now its summer time and more fun times.
Call me and we'll go out on the town!

COLOPHON

Now that you have finished your meal, I bet you're wondering whether or not to leave a tip. Well, actually, the dutiful waiters and waitresses who prepared this menu for you are volunteers. That's right, aside from a few slices of pizza, the only reward they can hope for is a little praise from you. Or a personal check, of course. But, before you whip out your bank book, allow me to expand upon exactly why this money is well deserved. At the end of last year, we met to discuss what Horizon '88 should be. The book had already made a successful transition from something green-and-blue to something new. Now we were faced with the challenge of incorporating all 1676 of you into a 256 page book. We call it a little something for everyone, and we believe it is just that.

Cindy,

Gosh! I don't know what to say. I so happy that I met you! We have to do things together before I leave. I'm gonna
miss you a whole bunch.
You're so great! I had so much fun
with you and Cheryl!
Come and visit
me in France!
But don't worry I'll come back next year.

Love Flo

Cindy

Well, I can't believe I'm still shaking from that stupid CPR test pe Zentree! That was really pathetic. Anyway, I can't believe we never did anything together this year! We are such nit-wits! You know we have to this summer, cause after that, I'll probably never see you again!
(It sounds so awful doesn't it!) We've had such fun together in class! And health. Remember Baird and those needs?
What a spaz, was (still on, slightly)
Anyhow - Love ya!

Love ya!

Cindy - Hi there. I haven't talked to you for awhile.
Hegarty's class last semester was alright. I'm glad I met you. I hope you had a good year. Mine was good.
You are very nice & I hope to see you around during the summer.
Take care and good luck
with your future.
Your friend, Pami Pham

Hi ME!

What do you know! This could be my annual - isn't my name Cindy? Is this the right annual? Oh! Cindy Kim! Wasn't that just so smart of us to sit next to each other in Calculus? Whose blue slip is that?? I can't believe that we actually made it thru four whole years of high school - and now off to that wonderful institution called what: college?! Oh Boy! I hope you have a relaxing summer before you actually pay someone to give you homework! GOOD LUCK!

Love

Cindy Randles

Cindy,

Its so weird that we were friends in 8th grade + then didn't see each other for 2 years and then we had Health together. I'm glad we made it thru! You're such a sweet + giving person I'm sure you'll go far! Love

Cindy!
you are such a sweetie. I am so glad that I got to know you. I can not believe how good looking Michael Hutterance is! Thank-you for the prints of the concert! Mrs. Agather is so cute! I don't know about all these hidden sexual meanings! And then Mrs. Morgan. She is so perky. This summer we have to do things I give me a ring - 512-4284. You better or, or, I'll do something! I can't wait for George (sexy) Michael! Now that boy is so yummy. If you get pictures for that I have to have prints again. I'll probably just be able to see the top of his head with my seats. Don't forget to call
